Welcome to Baytown library! Just a reminder that today the library closes at its usual time, 8 pm, and not 7:30 pm as we announced earlier. In three hours, at 6:30 pm, a concert of saxophone music will begin in the main hall on the first floor. Agnes Fray is a saxophone student at Baytown University and a winner of many competitions. Come and join us. The concert is free. And don't forget to take a look at the exhibition of paintings by local artists on the second floor.

Text B

Mum, It's Linda. I hope you haven't left for work yet. I overslept today and was getting ready for school in a hurry, and forgot my PE form! Could you please bring it to school before going to work? Also, could you please bring my pink notebook? It's for my chemistry class. It's on my desk, probably under the big green Geometry textbook. I'm sorry about this. I'll try to be more organized in the future.

Text C

John: Mum, Peter invited me to his birthday party next Saturday. Can I go?

Mother: Oh! I was hoping to go shopping with you. You need a new winter jacket, John.

John: Can I still go to the party?

Mother: What time will it be?

John: He said around 3 or 4 pm. And I also need to buy him a present.

Mother: What do you think he will like?

John: Oh, I know exactly! There's this microphone that he wants for his telephone. He likes making videos and wants to improve the sound quality.

Mother: Can you buy it online?

John: Yes, but they deliver in 3 days. It will be too late. But they sell it in our shopping center.

Mother: Excellent. Then we'll go shopping in the morning, buy your jacket and the microphone, and then I'll take you to the birthday party.

John: Thanks, Mum!

Text D

Father: Debbie! What are you doing?

Debbie: I'm making cookies, Daddy! Maggie gave me her recipe. Why?

Father: Have you forgotten about your doctor's appointment? We need to leave in 15 minutes.

Debbie: Do you mean the dentist? Mum took me to the dentist yesterday. My teeth are fine!

Father: The eye-doctor! You need new glasses – remember?

Debbie: Oh! I've completely forgotten about that! What should I do? If I start baking cookies now, they will be ready in 25 minutes.

Father: That's too late! Put them in the fridge and you will finish them when we return.

Debbie: OK!

My friends say that I always worry too much about everything. Right, but when I have to take three exams next week, I can't keep calm and relaxed. On Monday it's going to be mathematics which is relatively easy. On Wednesday we do a test on science, and on Friday we have to write an essay in English. We'll have three full hours for that and we are not allowed to use the internet or any reference books. We can only take in a bottle of water and a pen. Wouldn't that make you feel nervous?

Speaker B

I'm a medical student and I know that people may get ill just because they worry too much and because they eat the wrong things. I, personally, take food very seriously and never eat chips and other junk food. I try to avoid fizzy drinks and sugar. I prefer pure water instead. Before my exams I usually take lots of vitamins and it helps me to survive stress. Right... But I have to confess that I like chocolate very much and eat it almost every day.

Speaker C

Yesterday I did my mathematics test. I worried a lot as I had missed some classes because of illness. Fortunately, my classmates, Kate and Ted, helped me a lot. They stayed with me after class to explain to me everything I'd missed. And we practised a lot together. Kate is really good at maths, she has won several school competitions. And Ted can explain things in an easy and clear way. I'm very grateful to both of them.

When school is over, we are going to spend a month in the country. I don't think I really want to go there but my mum insists. She says it'll be good for my health as I look very tired after all my tests and exams. This means I'm going to spend a good part of summer helping my grandparents in their garden and reading books. And cycling to the river. It's not going to be very exciting, is it? I think I'll take my drawing kit with me to make sketches and to paint, as I'll have plenty of free time.

Speaker E

It's been a hard year. I had to study for my exams ...but that's not what worries me. The thing is that right before the exams I caught a cold but had no time to treat it properly. As a result, I'm still coughing and feel very weak indeed. Now and then I have a runny nose and sometimes my temperature goes up. It's difficult to get up in the morning. The doctor says I need some rest and advises me to stay at home for a few days.

Now we are ready to start.

Security: Morning. I'm Thomas Richardson, the sports centre security. The lady at the reception said that your iPod's missing.

Jackie: Yes, that's right.

Security: Can I ask you a few questions?

Jackie: Sure. Go ahead.

Security: Your name is...?

Jackie: Jackie Lee.

Security: OK, Jackie, do you often visit our sports centre?

Jackie: Yes. My parents brought me to the centre three years ago and signed me up for the gym classes. Since then I've been coming here every Tuesday and Thursday and I never miss classes as the coach says that it's very important... not to miss...

Security: Right, but there are no morning gym classes today.

Jackie: Sometimes I come to the swimming pool, too. It doesn't happen very often — only when I have the time. Today is such a day — I have a morning off, so I decided to have a swim.

Security: Is it possible that you've forgotten your iPod somewhere in the centre? In the coffee bar or in the gym?

Jackie: No. I didn't use them today. I came to the centre quite early, bought a ticket to the swimming pool at the reception and went straight to the changing room and then to the pool. I haven't been either to the gym or to the bar. I left my iPod in the locker in the changing room but when I came back, it wasn't there.

Security: I see. Frankly speaking, I can't remember our visitors ever reporting stolen valuables; they often lose things, which are usually found and brought to the reception. However, this incident looks like a crime and we'll have to call the police I'm afraid. Jackie: Looks like that. Security: There's a special safe at the reception by the way. We strongly recommend that our visitors keep valuables and mopey there. The safe is free and available for all our visitors...

Jackie: Yes, I know about the safe, but neither my friends nor I ever use it. Maybe it's a bit careless but we've always left money, watches and phones in the changing rooms — nothing has ever happened.

Security: I'm calling the police.

Jackie: No, wait a moment. I think I can hear my iPod. It sounds like it's in the locker. Oh goodness, it's here in my boot. I put it inside the boot to not forget it.

Security: Fine. I'm glad you've found it.

Jackie: I'm really so sorry for all this trouble. My mum's right — I'm hopelessly absent-minded.

Security: It's OK.
